Cultural and Ethnic Communities

Leadership Council

PURPOSE

The Cultural and Ethnic Communities Leadership Council (CECLC) advises the commissioner of the Department of Human Services (DHS) on implementing strategies to reduce inequities and disparities that affect racial and ethnic groups within department programs.

The council's mission is working together to advance health and human services equity through the development of community-supported policy recommendations for cultural and ethnic communities and all those who call Minnesota home.

The council brings community voice into DHS decision-making processes, centering the experiences of cultural and ethnic communities most impacted by disparities in health and access to human services.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

Guiding principles inspire groups, prioritize choices and provide direction for challenging decisions. They show members how to interact with one another and help evaluate impact to the broader community.

1 Antiracism: We are an antiracist sustainable system that validates experiences, acknowledges trauma and uncovers root causes that will impact the lives of both present and future generations.

2 Thriving Communities: We prioritize decisions that support thriving sustainable communities.

3 Person-Centered: We honor our lived experiences as central to our successful collaboration and as how we model person-centered programs.

4 Collaboration: We prioritize reaching decisions and taking action together in a collaborative, respectful and affirming environment that acknowledges differences in lived experiences.

5 Commitment: Persistence and showing up matters for our success as a CECLC.

COUNCIL ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS
